

NORTH STREET SCHOOL NEWSLETTER

ISSUE NO. 2 – 9 February 2023

Tena koutou katoa

I hope you all enjoyed your Waitangi long weekend. All we do at North Street School is underpinned by the Treaty of Waitangi. It sets out goals for the education sector and provides a framework for co-ordinating programmes and services that support Māori language in education. Our curriculum is structured around the three Treaty of Waitangi principles – partnership, protection, and participation.

Classroom routines and organisation are well underway and students have returned with a positive attitude. Ready to connect to what they know and strengths they bring with them and to engage in their learning. At North Street School we encourage our students to be explorers, take risks, problem solve and be aware of their own learning journey. These are our key learning principles to prepare our students for tomorrow and the future ahead.

Crossing rules - To keep all students safe we need all parents to model safe procedures. Please use the crossing to cross North Street as this shows all children the safe way to cross rather than running across to a parked car. If you are crossing Andrew Street we have an orange cone where it is a safe, visible place to cross. Thank you for your support in keeping our kids safe.

Epic music lessons have started with individual students and next week all Year 7-8 students will start with drumming. The whole school drumming experience is paid from the School Donation Scheme.

Life Education and Harold the Giraffe will be at our school again from the 24th March. All teams will have lessons around life, choices and health focuses. This is also paid by our School Donation Scheme.
